PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

I am a student of Artificial Intelligence Engineering seeking opportunities to apply and further develop my knowledge in the AI field, particularly in projects related to Python, algorithms, and application development. I have a strong foundation in artificial intelligence, programming, and algorithmics, along with hands-on experience in video game development using Unreal Engine and involvement in international projects. My skill set also includes teamwork and international cooperation. I am fluent in four languages, listed in order of proficiency: Spanish and English, both of which I speak natively, followed by French and Italian, with high grammatical proficiency in all, including Catalan.
